Mr. Kinney opens to the jury; calls as a witness G. W. Macfarlane. Mr. Ashford offers in evidence a copy of the DAILY PACIFIC COMMERCIAL AD-VERTISER dated July 3, 1888, containing notice of close of partnership between G. W. and H. Macforlane. Mr. Kinney himself testifies. Plaintiffs rest. Mr. Ashford orally moves the Court to instruct the jury to give a verdict for the defendant, inasmuch as the plaintiff has Kinney for plaintiff; A. Rosa for defailed to prove that Henry Macfarlane was not in partnership with G. W. Mac-farlane at time this claim was made. After hearing arguments of the respective counsel, the Court announces it will leave the matter to the jury. Mr. Ashford, resuming, calls A. F. Judd, C. J., and J. S. McCandless; offers in evidence a receipt dated March 19, 1887, by G. W. Macfarlane & Co. to J. S. and L. L. McCandless for $349 67 with several endorsements upon it; also offers in evidence a bill of an account dated March 10, 1888, by G. W. Mactarlane & Co. against J. S. McCandless for $659 52, for casing pipe and charges. Calls L. L. McCandless and rests. Mr. Kinney recalls G. W. Macfarl ane and rests.

The jury retire at 3:17 and returning at 4:15 a-k for further instructions, which are given. At 4:57 the jury return a verdict "that on March 12, 1888, the firm of G. W. Macfarlane & Co. consisted of G. W. and H. R. Macfarlane"

-three dissenting. The Court directs that judgment be entered for the defendant on the issue decided by the verdict.

Mr. Kinney asks that the verdict be entered on the record as rendered. The Court says that should be done.

and also judgment entered for defendant on that issue. Mr. Kinney states that he excepts to the judgment.

The Court excuses the jury from further attendance until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Mr. Kinney asks that his exceptions be received. The Court states that his exception was to judgment being entered, and not to the verdict. Mr. Kinney says it was a general ex-

The Court states that an exception to the verdict should have been made in the jury's presence. To which Mr. Kinney replies that it had been, and the Court states it had not heard an exception to the verdict while the jury were

Mr. Kinney hands in his written exceptions and is retiring, when the Court s him to wait a moment. Mr. Kinney-"Beg your pardon?" (re-

The Court declines to allow exceptions, as counsel did not remain until they were read.

Mr. Hartwell opens and calls as witnesses, besides presenting documentary evidence, S. M. Damon, C. A. Brown, W. Gay and W. E. Rowell. Counsel also notes exceptions to refusal of a certain document.

Mr. Hatch answers with a general de nial and calls J. I. Dowsett, sr., J. H. Paty and Joseph P. Mendonca. Instructions from the Court to the jury are requested by counsel on both sides, but refused in each case, to which

Mr. Hartwell excepts as well as to the At 3:38 the jury retire and at 4:19 return with a verdict in favor of plaintiff for $2,230 damages-three dissenting.

Mr. Hatch notes exceptions to the verdict as being contrary to the law and the evidence, and gives notice of motion for a new trial, which the Court orders to be entered.

At 4:20 the Court excuses the jury from further attendance during this term.

IN BANCO.

The opinion of the full Court per Associate Justice McCully is filed this day, in the case of the King vs. Leong Tiam unlawfully landing or attempting to wer his bail is declared forfeited and land in the Kingdom. This was an appeal from the decision of one of the Justices presiding in the Intermediary Division, which sustained a conviction of defendant by Police Justice Dayton. The opinion, signed by all the Justices, holds that conviction may well lie on the proof of offering a passport which was sufficient to procure that the Board of Health should thereafter cause defendant to be taken from the ship, and concludes, "We hold that the convic-tion was legal" Deputy Attorney-General Peterson for the Crown; A. S. Hartwell for the defendant. The unanimous opinion of the full Court, per Chief Justice Judd, is filed in the case of Opiopio (w.) vs. Kane (k) plaintiff's exceptions, in a libel for divorce, to the decision of the Second Judicial Circuit Court. It is held by the Court that the order dismissing the libel should be rescinded, and the cause ordered on for trial at next term of said Circuit Court. They deem it unnecessary to consider the second exception-that leave should have been granted to plaintiff to amend. P. Neumann for plaintiff; W. A. Kinney for defendant.

Ah You admits, in answer to a charge of vagrancy, that he had done nothing for three or four months, but he wants to go to China, and is not guilty. Several Chinese testify that he has been an inveterate loafer, lodging and feeding at the Kaumakapili hui house (whatever that is); also that he threatened to kill his uncle and another countryman of his. Justice Dayton decided to give Ab You two months' work for the benefit of the Government, and as much more as will clear off a bill of $1 30 costs.

Supreme Court of the Hawaiian Islands--In Banco July Term, 1888. THE KING VS. J. H. REEVE, LARCENY OF ANIMALS.

JUDD, C. J., M'CULLY, PRESTON, BICKERTON AND DOLE J. J. Opinion of the Court by BICKERTON, J.

This case came on for trial on the 7th day of May, 1888, at the May Term of the Circuit Court of the Third Judicial Circuit held at Hilo, Mr. Justice McCully presiding. The jury returning a unanimous verdict of guilty to which verdict the defendant duly excepted, and then subject, however, to certain undefined and there gave notice of a motion for a new trial. On the 10th of May, 1888, defendant duly presented to the Circuit Court a motion for a new trial accompanied by two attidavits of J. H. Reeve's defendant. On the same day the Court declined jurisdiction and refused to entertain now legally vests in the defendants; the motion, and defendant duly ex- and, cepted. And the matter now comes to this Court on a duly allowed Bill of Exceptions.

BY THE COURT: The only except ion before us is to the Circuit Courts declining jurisdiction and refusing to entertain the motion. The question as to Circuit Courts granting new trials in Criminial Cases has been fully sett'ed in the cases of

The King vs. Kaona, 3 Haw'n Rep. 118, The King vs. Cornwell, 3 Haw'n Rep. 154, The King vs. Apuna, 3 Haw'n Rep. 166, where it is held that "Circuit Courts cannot grant new fore us, and after hearing the argument of counsel we see no reason for overruling them.

The ruling of the Circuit Court declining jurisdiction is accordingly affirmed. And the exceptions are overruled.

A. P. Peterson Dep., Attorney-General for Crown. D. H. Hitchcock and C. Creighton or defendant. Dated July 18th, 1888.

Mr. Bishop's Performance.

Probably owing to the arrival of the foreign mail, Mr. W. Irving Bishop's audience at the Opera House was small. The professor was, in all but voice, in very good trim, judging by the celerity and precision with which his feats were performed. Probably the most wonderful of the new performances was his writing a reply, in letters reversed like printing type, to a question secretly written by Judge McCully, regarding a deceased English statesman, viz., Win. Pitt, the name as well as question being only revealed in advance to two of the committee. While doing this the performer sat at one end of a table, the Judge only resting his hands on the other end. The platform committee were Judges McCully and Bickerton, Capt. Houdlette, Lieut. Minette of the Omaha, Hon. A. Jaeger, and Messrs. M. D. Monsarrat, Geo. C. Williams, T. R. Lucas, J., C. Ables and Carl Widemano. His Majesty and Princes Kawananakoa and Kelijanaole occupied the royal box. Hon, and Mrs. W. G. Irwin and Miss Wodehouse the opposite one, and Princess Kaiulani and Hon. A. S. Cleghorn seats in the dress circle.

IMPORTANT DECISION.

Kamehameha Lands Decided to Belong to the Estate-Ouestion Turns on the Rights of a Minor-The King's Sovereign Rights in Land Denied.

Judge Dole on Tuesday filed his decision in the cause of L. A. Thurston, Minister of the Interior, vs. C. R. Bishop et al., and it is in favor of the defendants. The cause was on the calendar for the last April term, and jury was waived and it was tried in vacation by consent of the parties. Mr. A. S. Hartwell represented the Gov-rnment, and Messrs. F. M. Hatch and Paul Neumann the Trustees of the Kamehameha Estate. It was a suit in ejectment for the Ili of Opu, brought upon the ground "that it has never been and is not now awarded, patented, granted or leased under or by virtue of any land award, royal patent or government grant or lease, and that, by the law applicable in such cases, the Hawaiian Government is the absolute and unlimited owner thereof," or, in other words, that the Government, by virtue of its sovereignty, is the owner of all lands which are not held by some title proceeding from itself." Two lines of defense were taken,

"First: That Kamehameha III, was the sole owner of all the lands of the Kingdom by virtue of the sovereignty which he received from his predecessors, rights of chiefs and people, and that, having satisfied such rights by the concessions which were carried out through the Land Commission and the Mahele, the ownership of other lands not disposed of remained in him, and has descended to his heirs; and the land in dispute being one of such unassigned lands

"Secondly: That the chief Hoapili was formerly in possession of this land, and was the recognized owner thereof according to the ancient system of land tenure; that, when he died in 1840, he gave it or leit it by oral bequest to Lot Kamehameha-since Kamehameha V. -then about ten years old, and that it was held for and by Lot Kamehameha without interruption until his death in 1872, and thereupon vested in his heirs."

His Honor opens his commentary on the testimony by saying there is little doubt about the facts. The two lines of defense are inconsistent. Plaintiff having admitted the facts in the second line, there is no need to consider the other trials in Criminal Cases." These line of detense, based upon the sovereign cases are conclusive in this case be- title of the King, as by the Declaration of Rights, announced in the year 1839, protection was assured to all persons with their lands and other property, with the guarantee that nothing what ever shall be taken from any individual except by express provision of the laws. This Act divested the King of his sovereign right of control of the Ili of Opu and gave Hoapili and his representatives an nterest in it, under the provisions of the law creating a "Board of Commission to Quiet Land Titles," generally known as the "Land Commission," enacted December 10, 1845. The Commission was authorized to recognize private interests in lands by virtue of royal grant or gift made orally anterior to 1839. It would inquire simply into the history of the derivation. No claim was presented to the Commission on behalf of Kamehameha. He was born in 1830 and was not twenty years old at the termination of the time for presenting claims, on the 14th of February, 1848.

Persons who were absent from the Kingdom or who were unrepresented therein were the only ones exempted from the requirement of having to have their property rights, above mentioned, confirmed by the Land Commission. 011011110110011-10 There was no exception made in favor of minors, and Kamehameha was a minor. His Honor, however, goes to the standard authorities, where he shows that no minor can be prejudiced or deprived of rights by the neglect of his guardians. Kamehameha's "parent and guardian" during his minority had failed to apply to the Land Commission for confirmation of the title in question, yet, according to the authorities cited in layor of minors, Judge Dole concludes his learned opinion in the words following: "Under these principles, therefore, and the evidence submitted, I do not find a right of possession to this land in the plaintiff, and order judgment to be entered for the defendants.

Death of Mrs. Sarah Dickson.

About 12 o'clock, Thursday noon, this estimable lady died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Laura F. Dickson, in this city. She was born in Boston, November 11, 1798, and had she lived three and a half months longer, her age would have been ninety years. In 1825 she married Captain Joshua Dickson, for many years well known as a very popular commander of several of the Boston and Liverpool packets, and later held the honorable office of warden of the port of Boston. In later years, she removed to Cincinnati, Ohio, where she made her home till she came to Honolulu in 1867, several of her children having preceded her, two only of whom survive her, Mr. Menzies Dickson of this city, and Mrs. Hessie Howard, of 0 1 1 0 1 1-4 Los Angeles. Mrs. Dickson was a most remarkable woman-one of the many intensely patriotic females, who gave an impress to the early history of the American Republic, and seemed to inspire their countrymen with noble purposes. This was shown in the American civil war, to which she sent two of her sons, and to the success of which she devoted all her energies. During her residence in this city, she has had a large circle of acquaintances, to whom she was greatly endeared, and who will long remember her with affection. She had no sickness or pain during her last few weeks, and her death was simply a peaceful surrender to nature-death from old age, gathered like a golden sheaf of wheat in the harvest. It is a beautiful sight to witness such a translation from this terrestrial to the spiritual world. The epitaph on the tomb of the lamented Garfield might well be hers:

Lite's work well done, Life's race well run, Life's crown well won-Now heaven's rest."

Admiral Porter, U. S. N., has given the opinion, with reasons, that it is impossible for any nation to land an effective invading force in England.

ST. LOUIS COLLEGE.

Closing Exhibition-A Vast Audience-Interesting Performances-The Prize

The closing exhibition of St. Louis College began at three o'clock on Friday afternoon, before an immense audience that crowded the large iron hall in every part. Altogether there must have been from 1,000 to 1,200 people in the building. Among those present were the King and Queen, Princess Liliuokalani, Princess Kajulani, Prince Kawananakoa, the Bishop of Olba, Hon. A. S. Cleghorn, Hon. Justice McCully and Mrs. McCully, Rev. Fathers Leonor, Sylvestre, Gulstan and Matthias (Waialua), Rev. V. H. Kitcat (St. Andrew's Cathedral); His Excellency Geo. W. Merrill, U. S. Minister, and Mrs. Merrill; Police Justice Dayton and Mrs. Dayton; Hon. W. E. Foster, Mr. A. T. Atkinson, Inspector-General of Schools, and Mrs. Atkinson; Mr. John McCabe, teacher of the Mission school at Keolau; Mr. Richard Stewart, teacher of the Mission school at Waialua; Prof. H. Berger and Mrs. Berger, Deputy Marshal Hopkins, Col. H. F. Bertelmann, Mr. C. H. White, assistant principal of the Royal School; Mr. T. A. Lloyd, Road Supervisor of Kona; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hill, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Lucas, Mr. W. J. Forsyth, and many parents and friends of the

The exercises opened with an overture -" Crown of Gold" (Hermann)-by the College orchestra, of which Bro. Albert is director and Bro. Francis accompanist. This was followed by a creditable address delivered by Solomon Kalejopu. A toy symphony coming next was an amusing but not unmusical novelty. Wm. Jarrett played nightingale, M, Hopkins cuckoo, K. Kaaepa quail, C. Osborne locust, B. Lloyd cricket, M. Anton rattle, John Dias bells, P. Anton, trumpet in C, C Hopkins trumpet in G, and the chorus was given by the junior choir. Selections-"Lucrezia Borgia"-were beautifully performed by the junior orchestra, consisting of: Wm. Sumner, B. Petrie and O. Wall, first violin; John Ferreira and G. Long, second violin; Wm. Nott, flute; Henry Mika, clarionet; Henry Mahiai, bass; John Crowder,

A chorus-"The Band"-was ren dered in splendid style by the choir. "The Blind Beggar," an operetta in one act, performed by W. Cuelho and Thomas Sylva, made the most sedate of the auditors shake with merriment, while the mass of spectators made the rafters ring with laughter and applause. W. Berger sang "The Little Hero," by Stephen Adams, in the clearest of boy's treble, so expressively, too, as to put the audience in full sympathy with the pathos of the piece. Part 2 opened with an overture-the familiar "Bohemian Girl"-executed by the orchestra in a manner that would do no discredit to any music hall.

An extremely amusing piece of choral lennig-was sung by the choir, but, after the first bar, the music was com pletely drowned in the furore of mirth provoked by four large imitations of bog croakers, that were made to work their mouths like real frogs in time with the

"The Magic Flute," a comedy in four acts, was well presented by the following named boys, revealing much dramatic talent most of them: James Lloyd, W. Kaae, Aug. Vieira, F. Gurney, James Charles Murray, A. Fernandez, Fred. Beckley, Carlos Long, W. Sumner, W. Cuelho and James Thompson. The foreign dialect speech of the two last named struck the listeners very comic-

"The Rustic Festival" (F. W. Root), by the choir, was a rare piece of harnonic vocalization, the voices chiming like the parts of a great instrument.

The closing piece was a success in both comic and spectacular features. It was a solo and chorus-"The German Fifth of New York"-sung in character. with brass band accompaniment, by a company of twenty to thirty boys in military uniform. W. Cuelho, as Captain, was very tunny to the end, playing an excellent joke on the audience in reti:ing. While walking in front of his command giving their time by repeating the word "left," the company suddenly "left" him and then he "left," and only the word "left," came back to tell the audience they were "left" if they expected to see the 'Fifth' again.

Mr. Atkinson then by request addressed the gathering, making his remarks brief on account of the late hour. They had all seen how excellently the pupils had done everything undertaken. but this was only their play time as it were. The real work of the school had been exhibited at the examinations, and it would bear comparison, not only with the best schools in this country, but with those of the States and England. Great progress was manifest and he hoped each succeeding year would show similar advancement. Great credit was due the Brothers who had undertaken the training of these children and been so successful. He hoped to see this school go on. Private schools carried on by such a worthy body as this were a benefit to the community, as well as the public schools that had shown such satisfactory results to him during the past few days.

The Bishop of Olba heartily thanked the audience for their presence, to which a great deal of the exhibition's success was due. They had observed for themselves the pupils' attention to their teachers and to their duties.

The Bishop took a seat upon the platform, and Hon. A. S. Cleghorn being seated on his right, Princess Kaiulani and the Inspector-General on his left, these divided between them the ceremony of distributing the premiums to members of the higher classes who had won them. A NOBLE SHIP.

Quick Passage of Ship Cockermouth From Liverpool-Material for the Street Railroad.

The British clipper ship Cockermouth, Captain Raven Little, arrived July 23d at noon, after a smart passage of 116 pantomime-the "Frog Cantata," by C. days from Liverpool, G. B., with nearly 1,800 tons general cargo, including 700 tons iron raits for the Hawaiian Tramways Company, consigned to Messrs. G. W. Macfarlane & Co. The Cockermouth sailed from Liverpool March 29th. Experienced favorable winds to the equator in the Atlantic, which was crossed in long. 27 deg. W., 19 days out; thence had fine weather till 28 deg. S. was reached, when constant adverse winds and a series of gales were encountered Thence light winds to Cape Horn which was passed on June 1st, 64 days out, and passed Diego Reimaraz the following day; light southerly winds were experienced there. Was 12 days in crossing from 50 deg. S. to 50 deg. S.; thence variable winds from N. to S. W. which lasted to 37 deg. S. Took the southeast trades in 16 deg. S. losing them again in 10 deg. N. Crossed the equator in the Pacific July 9th, 102 days out, in long. 125 deg. W.; thence had favorable winds to port. Sighted Maui and Molo-kai at 2 o'clock Monday morning, and arrived in Honolula harbor at noon the same day, and was docked at Brewer's whart. Spoke the British ship Star of Bengal in lat. 42 deg. N. and long. 15 deg. W., from Cardiff bound for San Francisco. Sighted the British ship Langdale from Liverpool for San Francisco in lat. 35 deg, N. and long, 18 deg, W. The Captain stated that since passing 48 deg. S in the Atlantic, no vessel was sighted till arrival here; there was nothing but birds seen off the Horn. The Cockermouth is an iron vessel of 1,297 tons register, and was built at the Clyde in 1876. The highest run per day during the passage hither was 275 miles which was accomplished on this side of the Horn. The Cockermonth is a superb looking vessel, possessing superior cahin accommodations. The Captain's cabin is elegantly fitted up, and the entire vessel presents a clean appearance.
